

The room automation system by RTI completes our advanced home cinema concept. The customized user interface is carefully designed concerning the needs of the customers. The seamless performance with the Prismasonic products as well as with the other A/V items and room lighting, gives an extraordinary experience, when it comes to smooth and easy operation. Moreover, the RTI control panel can be integrated into the armrest of the Cinoseat, so that the user has a full control over everything straight from the comfort of the seat.
